Tax Reporting Services

In today's global marketplace, the ability to provide management access to financial data - whenever and wherever needed - is crucial to maintaining a competitive edge.

The IT infrastructure and applications required to provide this transparency have become increasingly complex and expensive.

In addition, increasing reporting requirements - not only statutory but also management and tax - and the shortage of accounting professionals have made it very difficult to have your own multidisciplinary finance department covering all these needs.

What can PwC offer you?

PwC offers you a state-of-the-art accounting and business management platform enabling you to have on-line access any time and anywhere to your financial and business information while outsourcing – a selection or the full range of often burdensome – processing activities.

Our offering is a combination of the PwC accounting expertise and an accounting and business management platform. The solution is:

- fine-tuned for cost-efficient processing;
- fully compliant with accounting and direct and indirect tax requirements;
- fully compliant with e-government, e-billing and e-filing requirements;
- on-line consultable;
- flexible for outsourcing and extensive interactive collaboration.

Technological concept

Webaccounting is a concept in which the financial application can be accessed by an authorised user any time and anywhere using the internet. Users have access to an application installed on a farm of powerful servers within the secure PwC environment. Enterprises are able to use financial applications over the internet in a user-friendly manner, while the database is kept within a secure environment.
